the cry "The king is dead, long live the king" has said there is no lapse in the kingship that immediately begins on the death of a monarch.

The new king is the first bachelor to succeed to the throne since George III under whom the 13 colonies across the Atlantic revolted and formed the United States of America. George, however, married years later.

Since the time of William, the Conqueror, there have been only two adults who remained unmarried throughout their reigns—William II, who ruled from 1087 to 1100, and Elizabeth, who was queen from 1558 to 1603.

Wales became the first bachelor to be king of Britain in 176 years.

On his arrival in London he will attend a meeting of the accession council, at which the Archbishop of Canterbury and the home secretary, Sir John Simon, also will be present.

He indicated he would adopt the title "King Edward VIII" through a message he sent to the lord mayor of London announcing his father's death. His grandfather, who died in 1910 and was succeeded by George, was Edward VII.

A bulletin by King George's three noted physicians said: "Death came peacefully to the king at 11:55 o'clock tonight in the Princess Royal, the Duke and Duchess of Kent."

York, the Princess Royal, the Duke and Duchess of Kent."

It was signed "Willans, Hewett and Dawson." Learns of Illness, who ruled from 1087 to 1100, and Elizabeth, who was queen from 1558 to 1603.

Formalities connected with the proclamation of a new sovereign have been set in motion, but it will be more than a year before they are concluded with the coronation. In the case of King George the sceptre was passed to him May 6, 1910, but his coronation did not take place until July 22, 1911, in Westminster Abbey.

Court mourning, according to precedent, lasts for 12 months—and six months of full mourning follows.

Arrangements were quickly made for the summoning of the privy council to St. James palace, where the new king will meet the council and make known his father's death and also the title he has selected.

Parliament will neet to take oaths of allegiance to the new king.

Within three days of the death of a king, a formal proclamation of his successor must take place.

With the accession of "ales, his brother, the Duke of York, becomes heir-presumptive. There is no heir apparent since that position can only be occupied by the king's son or grandson. His strength slowly ebbed and his heart action slowed down. The king died peacefully without pain.

Knowing the end was near, the royal family remained up throughout

Just before midnight the doctors realized death was imminent and hurriedly summoned Queen Mary, the Prince of Wales and the other members of the royal family.

It was the 26th year of George's reign through an eventful period of world history during which he won the love and respect of his 450,000,000 subjects.

The king's death came as a shock because the formation of a council

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20,—They LOS ANGELES, Jan. 20.—They are giving a dinner here tonight to the son of desperately poor immigrants, a modest, kindly little man who started life as a singing waiter in a Bowery barroom. The dinner celebrates his silver jubilee as a maker of melodies. It has been just 25 years since he set the toes of the nation to tingling with "Alexander's Ragtime Band."

I can think of an occasional popular composer, who might be defined as a person who has a good memory and hopes no one else has; just as now and then—but this is a trade secret—you strike a writer who is getting by not because he has been such a close reader.

But for Irving Berlin, it may be said that his lyrics are his own and his ideas are his own Maybe that's why his tuneful output is so good—it reflects the spirit of an authentic dreator, a genuine minstrel bard.

Conroy spoke on a local radio program, sponsored by the Atlanta Federal Business Association. Each week, under an arrangement by Assistant United States Attorney I. K. Hay, president of the association, an agent of some federal bureau explains the working of that bureau.

"Modern crime is only too often organized," said Conroy, "in this war against crime—and it is war—we must have well-disciplined soldiers of peace, whose factics are those of intelligent coordination."

Federal Bureau of Investigation officers are in 37 key cities of the country, Conroy pointed out, and resident agents in all other important centers of population are constantly weaving a grapevine of information, from the most inaccessible places to any designated point where it is needed in the solution of a crime. Agents are carefully selected, carefully trained and constantly switched from one point of the country to another so that they may understand all angles of their work. They have, to help them, the identification business, a reservoir of information with its 5,500,000 fingerprints. As a result they cover every phase of crime, from the theft of a cowhide on an Indian reservation to violations of anti-trust laws.

Supplies Gently Acting "Bulk" to Aid Regular Habits

Now and then, in talking with your friends, the subject of bran has come up. So that real facts might replace unsupported opinions, the Kellogg Company has aided for some years research in leading nutrition laboratories.

Studies made on a group of healthy women showed that two tablespoonfuls of bran daily con-tinued to relieve constipation; over a period of months. How different from cathartics—where dosage often must be increased.

Another series of tests on men indicated that, with some people, the "bulk" in bran was much more effective than that found in fruits and vegetables.

Further tests showed that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provided vitamin B and iron as well as "bulk." This "bulk" absorbs moisture, and gently exercises and cleanses the system—the right way to correct constination.

Serve ALL-Bran regularly for regularity. Either as a cereal, with milk or cream, or in cooked dishes. It is a natural laxative food. Sold by all grocers. Made by Kellong in Battle Cond.

Baptist Leaders To Conduct Training Course & MITH CONSIDERS

Prominent southern Baptists will conduct the annual study course in training union work this week at Bessle Tift College, at Forsyth. Instructors shown above include, seated, left to right, J. E. Lambdin, secretary and editor of the Southern Baptist training union work, Nashville, Tenn.; Mrs. J. E. Lambdin, author of study course books used in the training course. Standing, Miss Winnie Rickett, of Raleigh, N. C., state secretary of training union work, and Edwin S. Preston, of Atlanta, all the employes would lose their jobs if the election is held because the mill will be closed. They stated, however, they are in the minority and expected to be voted down if the election is held.

Attorneys for both sides agreed to postponement of the election and February 5 was the date set for a hearing on the injunction suits.

Why Dodge?

"I decline to answer that question," Murphy asserted, "I don't see why there should be an objection to this proposed investigation by this independent committee. DETAILS OF KERR BILL

Immigration Commissioner Outlines Benefits of Pending Legislation.

School, professional and social leaders of Atlanta were urged yesterday to support the Kerr deportation bill, now pending before congress, which would give the United States power to deport criminal aliens without the "red tape" which now exists.

Champion of the bill here was Miss Mary C. Ward, commissioner of immigration and naturalization for New England.

Under the present immigration setup, Miss Ward pointed out, a criminal alien may not be deported unless he or she has served a prison term of a year. No matter how many minor sentences the alien serves, he can remain as long as he has not served for a year at one time.

The bill also provides against the breaking up of desirable alien families illegally in this country, Miss Ward said. She spoke at a luncheon meeting at the Hotel Ansley, where Mrs. Z. V. Peterson, of the Atlanta board of education, was chairman of the committee of arrangements.

Those attending included Mrs. Wellington Stevenson, president, and Mrs. W. P. Dunn, chairman of the board of governors of the Georgia Democratic Club; Mrs. W. F. Melton, president of the Atlanta Woman's Club; Mrs. D. R. "The department is confronted with the most serious situation it has met in the last 11 months," said Tiller.

He asserted that the number of cases which the board has to handle has increased from 3,916 in June, 1935, to 5,351 cases this month, but that there has been no increase in the amount of money the board has to spend.

the amount of money the board has to spend.

The city contributes $40,000 per month and the county donates $25,000 but Tiller pointed out that in December the cost of operating the board amounted to $72,000.

At present, the board cares for 12,-220 persons but it can only spend $5.70 per month per person, because of lack of funds.

Chairman Tiller declared the increasing relief requirements makes it necessary for the appropriations to the department of public welfare be increased accordingly.

PERSONALITIES . Pleased and displeased fiscal authorities who know Messrs. Roosevelt and Morgenthau thoroughly seem to agree that both are essentially sound money men. That is, they want to spend, but spend within reason. Where the pleased and displeased disagreed and parted is on the question of where the line of

This is supposed to explain the departure of Assistant Treasury Secretary Coolidge. Men with the combination to the treasury vaults say Mr. Coolidge did not suddenly become displeased. Nor was there any Rather, they noticed Mr. Coolidge month by month lately becoming more and more depressed with the prospects of raising money to meet more and more expenditure.

CONFIDENCE There is one new reason why the experts believe that Messrs. Roosevelt and Morgenthau may safely raise the money in prospect. It is that the country is no longer finicky on the money question. If recent polls of public opinion are any indication, the people are thinking and talking about spending, unemployment, farm relief, etc., but not about inflation. In fact, the inflationist bloc was so weak on the bonus in congress the other day that it was unable to put up even a good fight. Two years ago, Mr. Roosevelt had to trick them out of putting something over on him (silver).

The other reasons are the same old ones which have enabled the unprecedented financing done so far. The banks are filled with money, have no place to lend vast sums, except to the governments.

BURDEN The inside on the tax situation is as clear as the imminence of unexpected spending.

New Dealers do not want any new taxes levied before election, if they can help it. They may have to impose some excise taxes in connection with the new farm program, but they will hold until the last electoral vote is counted to delay the new general tax legislation which the current situation obviously demands. That is good politics.

It is equally clear where the new burden is going to fall when it does. There is no more real revenue in the rich, because there are so they give there are so they give the start and the rich when it is there much more to be gained from the near and few rich. Nor is there much more to be gained from the poor, and everyone else, by sales and excise taxes. After all, the current state sales taxes are as much as that traffic will bear.

There is only one place where the government can get such revenue as is now being talked about. That is in taxes on incomes below $50,000. They will pay the bill.

GLITTER No one here is paying any attention to the new pressure campaign of the committee for the nation. The idea prevalent on the inside here is that opening of the gold market would cause the price of gold to go down, not up.

The reason why the agitation for reopening of the domestic gold and The reason why the agitation for reopening of the domestic gold and silver markets is not getting anywhere either is that such action might cause hoarding again. The current financial situation is not yet so sethoarding again. The current financial situation is not yet so settled as to prevent a possible rush into two such basic commodities, out of respect to their fixed value, which, incidentally, has not been entirely

WORSE The tight-lipped secretary of the treasury was conservative to interview him: "Gentlemen don't ask questions."

The Russian further told me that he had had a French governess when he was a boy. He had been in love with her, but had, on account of his youth, never informed her of his devotion. He was sorry for it now and bewailed his neglect, now mind you, and ends, However, this does not after his financing chances materially.

Now does the prospect that he sail have to do shout $6,000,000,000 and of the reasury was conservative in his estimates to the senators. The truth is he will probably have to raise a lot more than $5,000,000,000 in new money during the next 17 months.

He took a sub-bottom estimate on the bonus and on undisclosed relief needs. Also, he failed to figure in the new farm program, a possible farm tenant bill and a couple of billion dollars of other possible odds, and ends, However, this does not after his financing chances materially. Nor does the prospect that he will have to do about $6,000,000,000 of refinancing in the next 17 months. Refinancing is comparatively easy.

But if the debt is not upwards of $36,000,000,000 before he gets through, a lot of important silk hats will be eaten around Washington.

To put it as delicately as possible, the old girl looks like a wraith and peddlers and shanties litter the broad sidewalks of certain avenues or that so many upper floors are shuttered of an air of illness, and age and the sight of the circle dark, barred, soiled

Rue Daunou a feeble electric sign beckons stray veterans of the greatest debauch in all history to drop in and shed a tear at Harry's New York bar, which in its day was practically the home address of hundreds of refugees from the noble experiment. Harry's bar is the old headquarters of the International Order of Barflies, whose roster holds within one pair of covers the signatures of most of the famous Americans who came to town in the days of the three-cent franc and tried to attend to their drinking a year in advance in their first few days ashore.

The barflies had a little lapel insignia, a password and a highsign.

The barflies had a little lapel insignia, a password and a highsign. The insignia was a fly on a piece of sugar; the password, "buzz buzz," and the high sign, crooking of the elbow and hoisting of the forearm.

Thousands of brothers went through the rite of paying 10 francs to Harry by way of an initiation fee and writing their names in the book, and there was a time when the order had members in all corners of the world. Harry, who is not an American but a Scot, is not known yet to have blackballed an applicant with 10 francs.

There is no possible way of checking up, but it can do no harm to wonder what luck they are having, all the gentlemen and ladies of many nations, many of them quite young and handsome, who made Harry's New York bar the town pump of the world. A certain proportion definitely have died. Some have made a career of drinking. But most of them were merely being mischievous for a while and dropped out when their time and money expired, making room for new members. FAIR ENOUGH Where All That Glitters Is Called Gold. There Is a Fine Market for Brass BY ROBERT QUILLEN

In a beautiful land named Moronia, nearly, all of the people were good and simple and trustful souls who had great faith in symbols and labels. They wore their hearts on their sleeves, said what they thought, believed what they heard, and were wholly innocent of guile.

But in that land also were subtle and wicked people called sharpers, greatly feared by the simple, and these evil persons, for dark reasons that need not be explained, wished to change the country's flag and all of its institutions.

To avert this disaster, the simple passed a law requiring everybody to salute when passing a flag, a courthouse or a church.

"Now," they said, "we shall know who is good and true and who is wicked."

A few of the simple refused to salute, for various unimportant reasons, and were clapped into jail; but the sharpers not only saluted but added a reverent bow for good measure, and the simple were delighted by this evidence of virtue and patriotism.

The national dishes of Moronia were apple sauce and baloney, canned by the sharpers and devoured in great quantities by the simple, and some-

So the simple passed another law requiring every can to bear a label correctly stating the quantity of poison, if any, mixed with the apple sauce and baloney.

Thereafter every can offered for sale by the sharpers bore the label: "Guaranteed strictly pure." And the simple were content, for they never doubted a guarantee. When election year came, many of the sharpers were candidates and each of them said: "I am the poor man's friend. Elect me and I will do

The simple cheered wildly and said to one another: "The sharpers are our friends and will save us. They said so, and that makes it so."

Well, the sharpers were elected and they promptly abolished the flag and the sacred institutions and made life hard for the poor and doubled and the sacred institutions and made the hard for the poor and doubled the poison in the apple sauce and the baloney.

The simple were dazed and some cried: "Why, the dirty two-faced things!" But most of them said: "Who would have thought that men could change so greatly. My! My!"

Of 446 patients sent to a large hospital for communicable disease presumably ill of acute poliomyelitis (infantile paralysis) 66 actually had only nasopharyngitis, "cold" to you, granny.

Now it is the opinion of physicians who have had the largest experience in treating poliomyelitis that the best treatment in any case is absolute rest in bed from the very onset of the illness, plus physiciolar rest of the muscles involved, by means of suitable splints or other supports applied by the physician. It is definitely harmful to permit the patient to move about or to move the patient unnecessarily in the early stage of the illness. Why, then, were the 66 patients with nasopharyngitis rushed off to a hospital as "poliomyelitis" cases? Unquestionably because of popular polio-phobia or unreasoning fear of infantile paralysis.

Of course it is comparatively harmless to rush a patient to hospital when he has only acute naso-pharyngitis.

of course it is comparatively harmless to rush a patient to hospital when he has only acute naso-pharyngitis. But it is a bit extravagant, isn't it?

Don't mind what I say about it, though. I feel the same about the mad dog business. In fact I'm an agnostic in reference to rables in man. So my point of view is not the orthodox one.

Of the 446 presumptive cases of infantile paralysis 225 were correctly diagnosed, as the course of the illness proved. Itell you, it takes a mighty fine physician to make a correct did agnosis of pollomyelitis in the first few days of the illness before any proved. Itell you, it takes a mighty fine physician to make a correct did agnosis of pollomyelitis in the first few days of the illness before any proved. Itell you the physician is on the alert. Of the 446 patients hurried to the hospital on suspicion, besides the 66 with only nasopharyne gitis. 16 actually had meningitis, 14 actually had acute otitis media, 13 had tuberculous meningitis, 13 had acute tonsil-fitis, 9 had acute infectious arthritis. ("rheumatic fever"), 8 had lobar pneumonia, 5 had appendicitis, 4 had encephalitis, 3 had scarlet fever, 2 no disease at all, and so on.

When competent physicians so frequently mistake nasopharyngitis for pollomyelitis in the first few days of the illness, it is not so strange that parents sometimes postpone too long the calling of the physician when a child has what they choose to call a "cold" or a slight feverish sore throat which percently mistake nasopharyngitis for pollomyelitis in the first few days of the illness, it is not so strange that parents sometimes postpone too long the calling of the physician when a child has what they choose to call a "cold" or a slight feverish sore throat which percently mistake nasopharyngitis for pollomyelitis in the first few days of the illness, it is not so strange that parents sometimes postpone which proves to be pollomyelitis. Inis is just one good reason why it is unjust and unsafe to dub any illness, no matter how mild, in a child a "cold." Call it cri until the nature of the illness can be definitely determined, and give the child and every one concerned a fair deal by putting the child in bed and keeping him there until he is surely well or until the doctor comes.

Take these 3 Simple Steps to Better CONTROL OF COLDS

1. To Help Build RESISTANCE to Colds

Live normally—avoid excesses. Eat simple food and keep elimination regular. Drink plenty of water. Take some exercise daily—outdoors preferably. Get plenty of rest and sleep. (During the colds season, gargle night and morning with Vicks Voratone Antiseptic, especially designed for safe daily use to aid in defense against infection which may enter through the mouth.)

2. To Help PREVENT Many Colds

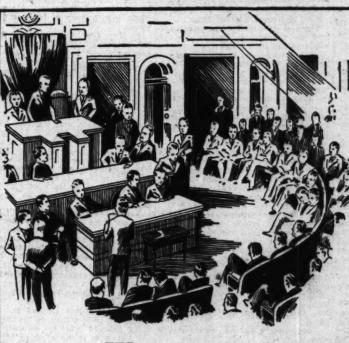

At the first warning nasal irritation, sniffle or sneeze, use Vicks Va-tro-nol—just a few drops up each nostril. Va-tro-nol is especially designed for the nose and upper throat—where most colds start. Used in time, Va-tro-nol helps to prevent many colds—and to throw off head colds in the

3. To Help END a Cold Sooner

If a cold has developed, or strikes without warning, rub throat and chest at bedtime with Vicks VapoRub. VapoRub acts two ways at once: (1) By stimulation through the skin, like a poultice or plaster. (2) By inhalation of its penetrating medicated vapors, direct to inflamed air-passages. Through the night, this combined vaporpoultice action loosens phlegm, soothes irritation, helps break congestion.

These three steps form the basis of Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds—a practical home guide to fewer and shorter colds. Developed by Vicks Chemists and Medical Consultants; tested in extensive clinics by practicing physicians; further proved in everyday home use by millions. Full description of the Plan in each Vicks package—or write for details of Plan and trial samples of Vick Colds-Control Aids. Address: Vicks, 116 Milton St., Greensboro, N. C.

WE HAVE the statement of a recognized news commentator that during the past year the legislatures of 47 states placed upon the statute books some 1400 new tax laws.

Regardless of their merit—they exist and are, or will become, operative. Many of them have a present and future bearing on the handling and ultimate disposition of that which we call-Our Estate. Estate inheritance and transfer-gifts of money and property—are favorite subjects for tax consideration, particularly in these times.

It is not to be expected that busy men, active in the handling of their daily problems, are in a position to follow changing tax situations and their ultimate effect on estates. Trust officers in a large bank like the Citizens & Southern must keep informed-otherwise they cannot serve their clients intelligently. Our Trust Officers are working daily with attorneys and the men and women whom these good lawyers serve. They are helping in the changes and revisions of wills, deeds of trust and other instruments designed to convey property. To every man or woman who has an estate, I make this suggestion. Come to the bank with your attorney and let our Trust Officers work with you in this matter of taxes.

There will be no obligation and you and your heirs may be benefitted greatly. The MAN-ON-THE-STREET

Unlike many British kings, George V did not begin training in childhood for occupancy of the throne. He was the second son of Edward VII and was 26 years old when he became heir to the crown on the death of his elder brother, Albert Victor. Duke of Clarence.

Meanwhile, George had embarked upon a naval career which kept him almost constantly at sea from the tame he was 12 and which had carried him from cadetship to the rank of commander by the time of his brother's death. Thereafter his duties as heir apparent precluded exclusive devotion to the navy, though, within two years after his father's ascension on January 22, 1901. WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE.

Late of Wellesley, Kay Brannan, beautiful and reckleas, meets Bob Dakin, a mediscal doctor. Quite drunk, he insists that they clope. But, sober again, he is horizentiased for he is engaged to Priscilla Hyde. The Dakis are unexpectedly kind to Kay and give a tea for her. Priscilla is openity insulting so Kay begs Bob to wait until speling for a divorce. He reinctantly consents but their marriage is to be one "in amme only." As the months pass, Bob still seems to be in love with Priscilla but terms to kay for companionship. One afternoon Priscilla visits Kay and is quite amiable. Bob drives her kome but does not return immediately. It is then that Kay is overwhelmed by the realisation that she loves him. NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

Kay cried: "She is? I didn't know! She hasn't told me. I'll bet George is proud!"

"George is a good man," Mrs. Brannan said gently. "He is doing well.

And Kay asked about other towns-folk. Mrs. Brannan patiently told her all the news. Nancy Towne had come howe from Hollywood without finishing her course there. "I think she found it hard to keep up with her studies," Mrs. Branan explained. "Nancy was always a little-unstable.

"But Bob was in the boat; and he was drunk, too. He wanted to drive me back to Boston, and I let him, and we got lost, and he asked me to marry him. And I—did." She looked at Mrs. Brannan appealingly. "I'd never met him before. He was engaged, and I knew it. Oh, there's no excuse for me!"

Mrs. Brannan said mildly: "We knew, of course, that it was sudden, because you hadn't mentioned him in your letters before. And of course Emily knew his reputation."

Kay nodded. "So the girl he was engaged to was mean to me, naturally," she explained. "His people were so nice I was ashamed of myself; but this girl—her name's Friscilla Hyde—said something that infuriated me, and I told Bob he'd have to stay married to me for a while. declined to order its refund until receiving formal notice of the high tribunal's action which was announced a week ago. Today's action completes that formality.

In his motion to dismiss the Talmadge suit, Reed contended the government could not be sued without its consent and that the court was powerless to enjoin collection of the ginning tax imposed by the Bankhead act in an effort to curtail cotton production. This assertion was made before the rehearing on refund of the impounded AAA taxes was ordered, upholding an injunction against that collection.

Last Monday the court dismissed on jurisdictional grounds an attack on the Bankhead act brought by Lee Moor, of Texas. The ruling holding AAA unconstitutional was believed by many to doom the Bankhead act.

Company. Pharr was to get 20 per cent of the amount collected.

The minority members said Pharr told them it would mean long litigation, several out of town, and, probably, lawsuits in another state.

"As a matter of fact," Longino said, following a conference with Pharr yesterday morning, "the back tax money was collected 11 days after the contract was signed and Pharr did not leave Fulton county." In a letter to Pharr, Ragsdale pointed out that he had only attended "several" conferences here with attorneys representing the Coca-Cola International Corporation.

Longino and Ragsdale contended that they were led to believe collection of the taxes would necessitate extraordinary work on his part. They stated to Pharr and Dr. Adams yesterday that they felt the county attorney was not entitled to the $22,000 because the work he did was paid for in his annual salary of $5,400.

Corporation Paid $150,000.

The majority leader said Pharr collected 150,000 from the corporation, $40,000 of it going to the state, and $110,000 to the county. Pharr's commission came from the county money. Longino wrote Dr. Adams a let-Longino wrote Dr. Adams a letter saying he was surprised to learn that a warrant of approximately $22,000 had been made out to Raiph Pharr, because, he stated, he did not "see how you could assume the authority to do this without the action of the board." He demanded that a special meeting be called and the money formally returned to the county treasury.

"A contract entered into by the commissioner to Mr. Pharr under the date of December 4, 1935, which was passed on motion of Commissioner Edwin F. Johnson and seconded by you, was for the purpose of compensating Mr. Pharr for his services in connection with long-drawn-out litigation in a foreign state and also committing him to employ additional counsel in connection therewith," Longino wrote to Dr. Adams.

"As a commissioner of Fulton county, I reluctantly consented to this contract, feeling, as I do now, that in case of long-drawn-out litigation in a foreign state which necessitated employment of additional counsel, Mr. Pharr vould be entitled to the stated compensation. However, in view of the fact that this money was paid to the county tax assessors without any litigation, Fulton county was exertainly entitled to any co-operation Mr. Pharr gave by reason of his salary of $5,400 per year.

Sheriff J. L. Spivey said today he held a warrant charging Hallus Sweat with assault with intent to murder in the ambush abooting, last night, of Mrs. G. W. Hall, his sister.

The woman, now in a serious condition in a local hospital, was shot in the head. A would-be killer fired upon her from ambush, just outside a window of her home.

Sheriff Spivey said the warrant was issued to the husband of the woman. Sweat and Hall, the sheriff said he was informed, had engaged in a heated argument during Sunday afternoon.

was informed, had engaged in a heated argument during Sunday afternoon. bill to be taken up in the house Wednesday.

The only reason, Byrns said, that the farm legislation might have to originate in the senate is because of house rules against attaching legislation to a money bill, which might bring delay should someone make a point of order against the move.

Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the majority leader, said today no plan to incorporate general legislation as proposed by Bankhead in the appropriation bill has as yet been considered, though the proposal of Senator McNary, republican, Oregon, to set aside $300,000,000 to pay contract obligations under the old AAA might be added.

Bankhead Bill.

Bankhead said today he would present his bill Wednesday. He has asserted it is in line with administration views as enunciated at a previous White House conference.

Jones did not say whether his bill would carry provision for financing the substitute program, estimated to cost $350,000,000 or more.

House leaders were inclined to push the new program ahead of legislation for the old AAA obligations appropriation, Jones' committee has approved a bill authorizing $296,000,000,000 for that purpose, but he and other house leaders indicated today plans for acting on it had not been made.

Three men were injured, one of them seriously, in a head-on collision between two automobiles last night at Montgomery Ferry drive and Piedmont road. Two men in one car fled from the scene afoot.

John W. Huddleston, 20, of R. F. D. No. 2, Alpharetta, suffered a possible fracture of the skull and was admitted to Grady hospital in a serious condition.

His father, I. D. Huddleston, 48, and Virgil L. Huddleston, 19, a brother, were treated for lacerations and bruises and dismissed.

The men told officers that they were coming to work in Atlanta on the Piedmont road when they were struck by the other machine head-on. Two white men in the car leaped out after the crash and fled into the woods, they reported.

Alleged Thief Nabbed

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—(P)—The common "cold in the chest," accompanied by fever, has harassed King George ever since 1928, when, standing bareheaded in the rain at the foot of the Cenotaph, England's war dead memorial, he contracted the illness that nearly resulted in his death.

Then his life was in the balance as the illness progressed from a cold into pleurisy. Alleged Thief Nabbed Leaving "Nemesis" Store

Police had been warned of the attempted entry by the burglar alarm system and dispatched the radio patrolmen to the scene. Johnson said that Dodson had only recently been dismissed from the chain gang after serving a term for attempting to rob the same store.

the illness progressed from a cold into pleurisy. Since 1928, his various indispositions have been guardedly reported by his physicians as sub-acute bronchitis, congestion in one lung, bronchial catarch and rheumatism. A year ago his personal physician said the king's general health was excellent. But severe colds and bronchitis confined him to his royal apartments more than once during 1935. Physicians have stated publicly that members of the royal family are susceptible to bronchial or chest colds. SHORT LOTS

LUCCOCK SPEAKS AT EMORY SERVICE

Yale Professor Delivers First of Series of Special Lectures.

Dr. Halford E. Luccock, professor of homiletics at the Yale School of Divinity, delivered the first of a series of lectures last night at Glenn Memorial auditorium, Emory university, on the general theme, "Christianity and the Individual in a Social World." The lectures will be delivered twice daily at 10 o'clock in the morning and 7:30 o'clock as a part of the annual observance of "Ministers' Week" at the university. Eight more talks are scheduled.

"Jesus is not a sentimentalist," Dr. Luccock points out. "He brings the hardest political and economic realism that has ever been injected into a world's thought.

"Christianity, although it gained the world." Dr. Luccock added, "lost its own life when it came forth from the Roman catacombs and became the faith of a growing majority instead of a desperate minority."

Prior To Lecture

Mrs. Balfour Miller, of Natchez, Miss., a leading figure in Souttern Garden Cicles, was honor guest yesterday at a luncheon given by Atlanta's garden center. In the center of the attractively appointed table was a miniature garden, characteristic of the many beautiful gardens to be found in Mississippi. The centerpiece was made by Mrs. Carl Lewis, who displayed clever ingenuity in reproducing the garden in miniature form. In the center of the garden Mrs. Lewis had placed a tiny bird bath surrounded by natural iris plants, apropos of the Iris Garden Club which sponsored Mrs. Miller's lecture here yesterday afternoon. A small china doll, wearing a replica of the old-fashioned dress, which Mrs. Miller wore for her lecture, stood in the center of the miniature garden which was surrounded by tiny boxwood plants.

Mrs. Miller's lecture yesterday afternoon, attended by several hundred prominent Atlantans. featured the subject, "Natchez, Where the Old South Still Lives." The speaker illustrated her talk by colored slides which presented a vivid picture of the beautiful and historic gardens of Natchez. The apeaker wore an old-fashioned taffeta gown of hyacinth blue and orchid taffeta made with hoop skirt. Her old-fashioned bouquet was formed of pink and white camelias sent her from gardens at Mobile, Ala., and she wore a pair of these lovely flowers in her hair. Mrs. Miller was the guest of Mrs. Hugh Richardson for tea at her home, Broadlands, on Pace's Ferry road after the lecture. The visitor returned to Natchez last evening.

Mrs. Balfour Miller Georgia Mother, Twins Captivate Honored at Luncheon Many Americans Living in London

By Sally Forth.

T OVELY Rose Morrison Bingham and her adorable twins, Rose and Hiram III, are the toast of the Americans Ilving in London. Rose is from Waycross, and her marriage to Hiram Bingham, second secretary of the American embassy, was an important event. The eightmonth-old twins, Rose and Hiram III, are the brightest, prettiest and rosiest babies, and are the center of admiration among the smart set in London.

When Mrs. Hamilton Lewis, the aunt for whom Mrs. Bingham is named, was abroad recently, her niece gave a tea in her honor in-Lon-don. American Ambassador and Mrs. Robert Bingham were among the distinguished guests, and they visited the nursery on Montpelia square to see the famous twins. When other callers, lured by their desire to see the babics, climbed the stairs, they found Ambassador Bingham walking the floor with one baby nestled in his friendly arms, and Mrs. Bingham sat in a rocking chair crooning a lullaby to

Dear Miss Chatfield:

Wonder if you can tell me something that is puzzling me? Is it possible for a man to love two women at the same time? When I was a much younger man than I am now I met and fell in love with one of the finest women I have ever known. With passing years I have never met any I think finer. She has a wonderful disposition and is in every other way one hundred per cent. About a year ago I mot a widow who is also a very charming person. She didn't try to attract me. I am sure of this, but we met in business and then socially. I am in the same boat with the old darkey who fell in the river—completely submerged. I think of the widów with every intake of breath, yet I am truly positive that I love my wife. Believe it or not, I love them both. In many respects they are alike, though they do not look alike. Can you put yourself in my fix. If so, I would like your opinion as to what course I should pursue. Dear Miss Chatfield: Wonder if you can

A MODERN BRIGHAM YOUNG.

No woman can put herself in your fix but almost every woman can understand the fix you find yourself in and any woman can tell you which course to pursue. You are in midchannel, hearing the siren voice of a faccinating widow where the siren widow. fascinating widow who calls you to a short and merry pleasure cruise. But the good old matrimonial ship is the best bet for safe harbor for the journey we call life. If you take the cruise you are almost certain to be dashed on the rocks.

It is pretty useless to argue with a man that an experience he believes himself to be having is beyond the realm of possibility. But it may not be useless to point out to him that love is a compound emotion, a thing of slow building, built up tike the coral reef, of many different deposits. What is called love at first sight is not love but merely physical fascination. The light of it is so bright that it bilnds. The voltage is so high that it shocks a man out of his wits.

When a modern Brigham Young and a modern Circe get together, the sparks fly, the flames leap high, but they don't last long. He may think of Circe with every intake of breath, compare her favorably to the "dear familiar" who has been his companion since youth; he may try to divide his time and interest them but it can't be done. Either he will hate the one and love the other, or else he will hold to the one and despise the other.

Current conventions do not allow current conventions do not allow for Brigham Young tendencies. So, my friend, the best thing for you to do is stick to the simple statement that you love your wife, think her one hundred per cent fine and fair; hold your breath when thought of the widow breezes in; give your-self, the wife and the widow a

There's quite a knack to starting the day right and for many a housewife the day's first problem is what to wear. Here is a smart little number that can be recommended without the sitancy, for it has what it takes to brighten those morning hours so crowded with household tasks. The blouse is gathered to the yoke in a way to give essential ease and there is a crisp white collar, with cuffs to match, to add a youthful touch. The design of the skirt is unusually effective, making for smartness and simplicity. There are kick pleats front and back. The sleeves are set in.

The Grand Slam Bid.

The Grand Slam Bid.

Only two short years ago I introduced the 4-5 no trump convention to America's bridge players. I was dubious as to how it would be received. Long testing by my associates and myself had convinced me that this alam bidding convention would work perfectly—but would people be willing to take up a new thing and give it a fair trial until they had convinced themselves? The answer was not long in coming. All over the world, experts and average players alike adopted the 4-5 no trump convention with enthusiasm. Today it is so widely used that even my dearest enemies, who always say, "I don't like anything connected with that man Culbertson—I'll make up my own system," make one reservation:

". but I'll use the 4-5 no trump convention."

The idea of this convention was to show key cards. When a player bids four no trump, he shows all four aces. When he bids four no trump, then later bids five no trump, he shows all four aces. When he bids four no trump, according to the original plan, he showed three aces and one king of a bid suit.

*A X 3

The bidding:

South West North East
1 spade Pass 2 diamonds Pass
5 no tr'p Pass 7 diamonds Pass
6 mot bidding:

When North responds to one spade with two diamonds, South can see that if North has the spade king, the heart ace, and as good as the queen of diamonds, the hand almost surely will make a grand slam. It is not a bad chance when your grand slam depends only upon your partner's having as good as the queen of diamonds, he can make the queen of diamonds, he can make the queen of diamonds, and, again provided he has the queen of diamonds, he can make the queen of diamonds, he can make the queen of diamonds, and again provided he has the queen of diamonds, he can make the queen of diamonds, he can make the queen of diamonds, he can make the queen of diamonds, and again provided he has the queen of diamonds, he can make the queen of diamonds and again provided he has the queen of diamonds and again provided he has the queen of diamonds and again provided he h

The four no trump part of it always has worked beautifully, but a year ago we discovered that the five Answer: One diamond is the correct opening bid—the six-card suit should be shown first.

year ago we discovered that the live no trump bid, to show three aces and a king, seldom was used, and, when used, seldom was effective. It did not help materially in reaching grand slams. So we made the bid stronger, so that it would show three aces and two kings of bid suits.

We found that it didn't work any better that way. And suddenly it occurred to me that it never would work. When a person has such a strong hand, containing five honor tricks or more, he doesn't need to show anything. He is the captain of the hand, and it is up to his partner to show his groceries to him.

So here is the new Culbertson five no trump bid, designed to force the partner to a grand slam if he has the proper cards.

First requirement: The five no trump bid must be a jump bid. The bidder must skip at least one round to reach it, such as bidding five no trump over four hearts, or over three of any suit.

Second requirement: The partner of the person who bids five no trump

Beloved McGugin To Be Laid To Rest This Afternoon

Purples Face Canton, Russell Plays Double-Header.

By Roy White.

Tech High and G. M. A. will battle at 3 o'clock this afternoon on the College Park court in the feature game of the third round of the city prep basketball league. Columbus Industrial plays at Monroe, in a game to decide the temporary leader. Boys High plays at Canton tonight and the game with Marist scheduled for this afternoon will be played at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon on the Y. W. C. A. court.

Russell plays a double-header or the Druid Hills court in the only games for members of the North Georgia Interscholastic conference.

DECIDED IMPROVEMENT.
G. M. A. is tied with Commercial for second place in the league standing, with Tech High and Boys' High tied for the cellar position with one loss each.

Both Tech High and G. M. A. have shown a decided improvement since the opening of the league and the game promises to be one of the toughest of the first round.

Columbus and the Monroe Aggies with two wins each are tied for the leadership and the game this aftermoon at Monroe will eliminate one of the undefeated teams and leave the winner in the favorite spot to win the first half.

The game will be played at Denton The game will be played at Dentor Hall in Monroe at 8 o'clock.

FACE TROUBLE. Boys' High will face plenty of trouble against the Canton Bulldogs on the Canton court. The north Georgia team has won a majority of its games and gave the Tech freshmen a good battle last week.

Following tonight's games the Purples play Marist on Wednesday, the Monroe Agies on Thursday, and finish the week's play with Richmond Academy Friday night on the Henry Grady court.

Academy Friday night on the Henry Grady court.

North Fulton's girls play North Avenue Presbyterian at 3 o'clock this afternoon on the North Avenue court in one of the two girls' games today. In the other girls' games, Russell plays Druid Hills in a preliminary to the boys' game at Druid Hills.

Dan McGugin coached football at Vanderbilt University for 30 years. It was my privilege to play football for him. There are a great many things written about football coaches. A great many things that are written are untrue. A great many things are written on dramatic developments. In writing about Dan McGugin it is not necessary to seek a subject.

It was my privilege to play for Dan McGugin in years when he was winning and years when his team was losing. He always was the same. He never became bitter in defeat and, was never overenthusiastic in victory. Somewhere, somehow, back in his ancestry, there came to him the perfect balance. A man who played football for Dan McGugin always felt that next to his father he loved Dan McGugin.

Dan McGugin died late Sunday of a heart attack. There may have been something of a broken heart in his death. He came to Vanderbilt University in 1904. At that time southern football was not known. The emphasis on football, the keen seeking for material, had the late Dan McGugin a bit puzzled. He never quite understood scholarship, aid for athletics, and all the accepted customs of the modern era.

A few years ago, some overzealous businessmen in Nashville contacted and sent to Vanderbilt a number of athletes. They were promised jobs at fat remunerations. The economic collapse of 1921 prevented these businessmen from making good their promises. The boys who had been lured to Vanderbilt by rich promises found themselves stranded.

Dan McGugin did the best he could. It is no secret that in the last several years he spent more than his coaching salary in trying to keep in school many Vanderbilt boys. I happen to know that in Dan McGugin's many, many boys, which total some forty or fifty thousand dollars, that Dan McGugin never made any effort to collect. He literally gave his life and the best years of his brain and himself to Vanderbilt University and its football teams.

There may have been something of the broken heart in this. Years ago there was no need to finance athletic associations. When the time came when they had to be financed, Vanderbilt University, like the Bourbons of old, who never forgot anything and who never learned anything, refused to admit he new era.

Dan McGugin coached Vanderbilt for 30 years. No other football coach in America had teams which compiled anywhere near the record compiled by McGugin's teams. Two years ago the selfish, inconsiderate alumni of Vanderbilt University began to demand football

In the old days it was the custom for kings to give the accolade to their favorite subjects. Certainly for hundreds of boys the greatest accolade they can have had is the privilege to say: I played for Dan McGugin. They will put him away Wednesday in southern soil.

It is peculiar that he whose father marched with Sherman's troops should have become one of the greatest students of southern military history, and that more than most men he should have come to love the south with a definite and sincere affection. It is fitting he should go to his last rest in a land he loved, surrounded by men he had loved and served.

McGugin's Duties.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 20.—(P)
Dean C. M. Sarratt announced tonight that Ray Morrison, head football coach at Vanderbilt University, would assume the duties of Dan E. McGugin, athletic director, who died suddenly
Sunday afternoon of a heart attack,
"There will be no athletic director at Vanderbilt hereafter," said Dean Sarratt, adding that the responsibility and work carried by McGugin would now be shifted to Morrison.

Morrison succeeded to the coaching post here a year ago after McGugin had stepped down after 31 years of tutoring the Commodores in football.

Dean Sarratt added that "we have

UNUSUAL FEAT.

It was the last half of the ninth, with Brooklyn leading, 9 to 8. McDonald, first up, went out; Campbell singled and was caught off first, Rucker to Daubert; Sweeney and Kirke singled; Titus drew a base on balls; Houser hit between first and second, and Titus, trying to block Daubert in fielding the ball, was hit by the bounder, retiring the side. Houser being credited with a hit.

Rucker participated in a perfect tie game against Brooklyn on August 13.

Mayor Rucker sees the Crackers as a pretty fine club as they now stand. He thinks the acquisition of Paul Richards will mean much to the team. Richard's value, according to team. Richard's value, according to Rucker, will be proven, not by his hitting or throwing, but by his canny handling of pitchers.

Another pitcher of Harry Kelley's equal and the possible addition of another Class A outfielder will give Atlanta another pennant winner, Rucker thinks.

BATON ROUGE, La., Jan. 20.—

(P)—Declaring his injured leg "all right," Glenn "Slats" Hardin, one of Uncle Sam's Olympic hopes, believes he can better his world mark of 50.6 in the 400-meter hurdles and that his "peak is yet to come."

He intends to take it easy through the summer, though, to avoid recurrence of muscle strain in his left leg—the one he throws first over the hurdle—so he can be in top shape for both the 400 meters and the 400-meter hurdles in Berlin.

Hardin is considered possibly America's best Olympic bet in the 400-meter hurdles.

Bernie Moore, Louisiana State University track coach, recently expressed the bowling for three-game series versity track coach, recently expressed doubt about Hardin's leg, but "Slats" thinks it's just a question of taking

Would Cause Early General Election.

TOKYO, Jan. 20.—(P)—Dissolution of the Japanese parliament, permitting the government to call an early general election, was expected at tomorrow's reconvened session.

Political writers unanimously predicted that Premier Okada, in order to forestril a resolution of non-confidence which the unfriendly Selyukai majority party is preparing to introduce, will announce dissolution.

Express Frictions.

He is expected to do so after he, Foreign Minister Koki Hirota and korekiyo Takahashi, octogenarian minister of finance, have delivered speeches. Hirota is expected to give the government's first official survey in many months of the empire's friction-laden relations with the rest of the world.

Dissolution means an election within a month, probably February 20, in when he is alieged to have attempted ito force entry into a grocery store on Fair street January 10. Police reported that he was wounded by a charge fired from a shotgun by John Harris, owner of the store.

long new year holidays, which began December 27.

Foremost among the problems which Hirota is expected to discuss is Japan's withdrawal from the London naval conference.

This situation is expected also to figure prominently in the later debates in parliament, especially in the lower house. The chief duty of this session, as the government conceives it, is to give approval to the 1936-list year. From that point Japan faces the prospect of naval building competition with other powers, especially the United States, and the navy insists on being prepared.

Other external relations which the foreign minister is expected to describe include those with soviet Russia, whose armies are across the borders of Japan's protege-empire, Manchoukuo.

AND TARZAN THE LEOPARD MEN No. 20

Through the night Tarzan waited, but there was no sign of the Taloned Death with which Sobito, the witch-doctor, had threatened him. As he omerged from the hut, Sobito loitered near by. "Where is your Taloned Death?" Tarzan demanded boldly. "Does he fear me?"

An oily smile overspreed the medicine man's evil countenance. "Even Sobito's powerful magic cannot summon him at once. Only one day has passed. Six more remain. If you leave our village, you may escape him." "I shall remain," Tarzan answered sternly.

Perhaps, thought Tarsan, the sly old devil knew nothing of the Taloned Death after all, but was using it merely to frighten him away. At any rate he could do nothing now except wait for the mys-terious Killer-Thing to strike again. He did not have long to wait!

tribe around the council fire. Sobito was there too. Suddenly from the far end of the village came a terrified scream. The wise men gasped. The old witch-doctor nodded knowingly. "The Taloned Death has strück!"

Convicted of shoplitting, J. S. Walker and Thomas Hart, white men, were fined $500 each and given suspended sentences of 12 months yesterday by Judge Jesse M. Wood in criminal court. Both men were charged with five counts of simple larceny. Officers said they were "tourist shoplitters," who traveled from city to city, looting stores. A number of large department stores here were victimized. Records on the two men from Washington revealed several convictions for similar offenses.

ENTOMBED BY BLAST

LAFAYETTE, Col., Jan. 20.—(P)
Rescue workers tore doggedly at tons of debris in the Monarch coal mine tonight where eight miners are entombed by a mysterious blast a mile below the surface.

"As far as we could see, the whole place down there is wrecked," Deputy Coal Mining Inspector J. W. Graham told distracted wives and children of the trapped men after a trip down the main shaft. The families kept an anxious vigil at the mine entrance.

Rescue crews were without a hint as to the fate of the men.

Sheriff George Richart, of Boulder, said it would be hours before rescue crews could make any headway against the debris. There is room for only seven men to work at a time. Stretchers were taken down the shaft.

The trapped men were Kester Novington, Ray Bailey. Tom Stevens, Leland Ward, Steve Davis, Louis Jaramillo. Oscar Baird and Tony de Santis.

There's one cigarette that writes its own advertising...

It's like this-

You see I'm reading a Chesterfield advertisement and I'm smoking a Chesterfield cigarette, and all of you are smoking Chesterfields.

Now listen—Chesterfields are mild (not strong, not harsh). That's true isn't it?

Then you read "and yet they satisfy, please your taste, give you what you want in a cigarette." That says it, doesn't it?

Wait a minute—

It says now that Chesterfields have plenty of aroma and flavor. One of you go out of the room and come back. That will tell you how pleasing the aroma is.

Chesterfield writes its own advertising
